

Color Sensory Poem

Choose a color and think about how your color looks, tastes, feels, sounds, and smells. Write a sensory poem about your color. On a separate piece of paper, brainstorm several options for each aspect of your color, then pick your favorites for each line of your poem. Use descriptive words and phrases to help paint a picture in the reader's mind. Write your title last.

SAMPLE:

Red is amazing.

Red looks like a striped lighthouse at the shore.

Red tastes like ripe strawberries on a summer picnic.

Red feels like the hot blush of embarrassment.

Red sounds like the Fourth of July, firecrackers bursting in the sky.

Red smells like cherry bubble gum.
